Slide 1 — Title

Handmade Design for a Better Future

Empowering Youth and Women Through Handbag Making

Founder: Anyang Nyibule

Turning skills into income, businesses and opportunities.

Slide 2 — The Problem

Many young people and women struggle to find stable employment and income opportunities.

At the same time, many have creative potential but lack practical handmade-design skills, business knowledge and opportunities to turn their creativity into income.

The result: unemployment, limited income and unused talent.

Slide 3 — Our Solution

We will provide practical training in handmade design, especially handbag making, together with basic entrepreneurship and marketing skills.

Participants will learn how to:

- Design and make quality handmade products
- Develop their own products and brands
- Market products through social media
- Sell within their communities and online
- Build sustainable small businesses

Slide 4 — Our Product / Service

Handmade Design Training Program

Participants will learn:

- Handbag design and production
- Creative design and finishing
- Product branding
- Pricing and selling
- Social-media marketing
- Basic business management

Startup Business Assignment

Final outcome: Participants can create handmade products and start generating income from their skills.

Slide 5 — Target Market

Primary beneficiaries

- Youth and women aged 18–35
- People interested in handmade design
- Unemployed or underemployed young people
- People who want to start small businesses

Customers

- Young people and adults looking for unique handbags
- Fashion-conscious customers
- Gift buyers
- Local and online customers

Slide 6 — Business Model

We will generate income by selling handmade handbags and other handmade products.

Sales channels:

- Social media
- Local community
- Direct customer orders
- Events and exhibitions
- Online marketplaces

Part of the income will be reinvested into the business to increase production and create more opportunities for trainees.

Slide 7 — Traction / Progress

Current stage: Idea + skill development

I am developing my handmade-design skills and building the concept for a business that can grow beyond individual production.

What I have already established:

Name: Tut Gatluak Chol

Startup Business Assignment

- Clear business idea
- Focus on handmade handbags
- Target group identified
- Sales channels identified
- Long-term business vision

Next milestone: train participants and begin selling finished products.

Slide 8 — Competition

Existing alternatives

- Mass-produced handbags
- Imported products
- Other local handmade sellers
- People who do not have access to practical training

Our advantage

- Handmade and unique designs
- Local production
- Affordable training
- Focus on youth and women
- Combines skills + entrepreneurship + income generation

We are not only selling products—we are creating skills and businesses.

Slide 9 — Go-to-Market Strategy

We will reach customers and participants through:

Social media → Community → Partnerships → Events → Customer referrals

We will use platforms such as Facebook, Instagram and WhatsApp to showcase products, attract customers and build our brand.

Participants can also become producers and sellers, helping the business expand.

Slide 10 — Team

Founder — Anyang Nyibule

I am passionate about handmade design, entrepreneurship and empowering young people and women.

Name: Tut Gatluak Chol

Startup Business Assignment

My role will be to:

- Develop the product designs
- Coordinate training
- Manage the business
- Promote products
- Build partnerships
- Grow the brand

Long-term: build a team of skilled designers, trainers and young entrepreneurs.

Slide 11 — Financial Plan

Proposed grant budget: 210,000

The funding will focus primarily on skills development and training, rather than purchasing machines.

Example allocation:

- Training and skills development — 80,000
- Training materials and supplies — 45,000
- Product development and prototypes — 25,000
- Marketing and branding — 20,000
- Social-media/content promotion — 15,000
- Training venue/logistics — 15,000
- Business/entrepreneurship training — 10,000

Total: 210,000

Slide 12 — The Ask

We are asking for 210,000 to turn skills into opportunities.

The funding will help us develop handmade-design skills, train youth and women, create products, establish a market and build a sustainable business.

Our long-term vision:

To build a large handmade-design company that creates jobs, increases income and promotes African handmade design locally and internationally.

Call to action:

Invest in skills. Empower creativity. Build businesses. Create opportunities.
